If technically feasbile, this is a good idea